

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of processing network data in a network processor includes scheduling a first thread to process a first incoming block of data and scheduling a second thread to process a second incoming block of data. The first and second thread
5 can operate simultaneously.